

Illustration 11

The density of a contaminant determines whether it is a “floater,” “mixer,” or “sinker” and affects how quickly or easily it is detected.

